COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course aims to enhance participants' understanding of cultural competency in leadership development, enabling them to develop the essential personal and professional skills required for effective leadership in a global society. It focuses on identifying and cultivating the competencies necessary for successful leadership in an increasingly globalized world, particularly international communication.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of the course, learners should be able to:

1. Have a sound conceptual and theoretical understanding of effective leadership for today's world
2. Define global leadership knowledge, skills, practices, and values
3. Know and critically engage with real-world global agricultural and leadership issues in society
4. Develop culturally relevant and effective global leadership techniques
5. Apply leadership skills in the global workplace and multicultural contexts
6. Understand and analyze the dimensions of global society's past, present, and future
7. Interrogate the role of power within global leadership and engagement
8. Enhance intercultural communication proficiency
9. Analyze and evaluate personal cultural patterns and preferred communication styles in relation to other cultures, domestic and international.

COURSE MATERIALS

Required:

Mendenhall, M.E., Osland, J.O., Bird, A., Oddou, G.R., Stevens, M.J., Maznevski, M.L., & Stahl, G.K. (2017). Global leadership: Research, practice, and development. Routledge.

Recommended:

Caligiuri, P. (2021). Build your cultural agility: The nine competencies of successful global professionals. Kogan Page.

All required course readings will be provided via the weekly Canvas Module
Additional recommended resources will be shared in class and on Canvas.

STUDENTS EXPECTATIONS

Students are expected to be respectful, active, and tolerant of classmates and instructors. Students are only allowed to use cellular phones and computers during class if instructed to maintain a classroom environment conducive to learning. Students should refrain from engaging in other forms of distraction, such as interrupting others. Inappropriate behavior will result in a request to leave class, with the student receiving an unexcused absence for that class session. Absolutely no tobacco products of any kind, including vapes, are permitted in the classroom – students using tobacco products will be asked to leave the class. They will receive an unexcused absence for that class session.

ASSESSMENTS AND GRADING SCHEMA

Cultural Competencies and Global Perspective Essay (October 10th)

The purpose of this 3-4-page double-space essay is to foster self-awareness regarding the cultures and beliefs that influence your life experiences as a global leader and community member. By reflecting on your strengths and areas for improvement in cultural competency, you can outline specific actions to enhance your understanding and effectiveness as a global leader. This assignment does not require citation of sources, as it focuses primarily on introspection and personal development.

Review and Reflect (Weeks 3,6,9,12) (4 x 25 points each = 100 points)

For this task, you will be asked to respond to guided questions that will help you review and reflect on the topics we have covered in class. These questions will be given every three weeks, covering various contents, readings, class lectures, and your worldview. Your responses should be at least two paragraphs long and clearly express your ideas. If you have cited any sources, make sure to list them as references at the end of your reflection. Consider the materials covered in class, including the readings, discussions, PowerPoints, and any comments your classmates or instructors made. Remember, APA formatting is not necessary.

In-class Case Study Analysis (November 29th)

Each student will select a global leadership ‘roots’ element or competency model for the foundation of their analysis of a case study assigned in class (existing case, current event, etc.). More information will be provided during class.

Team Research Project

You will have the opportunity to work in teams of two individuals to research a topic related to Communication & Competencies for Global Leadership. Four 'ready-made' research project options have been provided to assist students in developing their projects. These options serve as a starting point for students who may prefer a structured approach. However, students are encouraged to exercise their creativity and design research projects based on the class topics if they have a specific research idea. In such cases, they are advised to contact Dr. Lamino, who will guide and support them in shaping their projects. The aim is to ensure that each student can explore a research area of interest while aligning with the course objectives and learning outcomes.

- SELECT ONE of the following research topics that will be used for the class:

Research Topic Option 1:

1) The Role of Mentoring in Enhancing Global Leadership Competencies for International Students:

- Examine the impact of mentoring relationships on developing global leadership competencies among international students. Investigate the dynamics of cross-cultural mentoring and its influence on leadership development.

2) Global Leadership Development Programs:

- Evaluate the effectiveness of leadership development programs specifically designed for global leadership. Investigate the impact of such programs on the acquisition of global leadership competencies and career outcomes.

3) Cross-Cultural Leadership in International Agricultural Development:

- Explore the dynamics of cross-cultural leadership in international agricultural development projects. Investigate how leaders navigate cultural differences, build relationships, and facilitate collaboration for sustainable agricultural development in diverse cultural contexts.

4) International Faculty Experiences:

- Explore the experiences of international faculty members teaching at a university abroad. Investigate their intercultural challenges, strategies for effective communication, and the impact of their cultural backgrounds on teaching and research.

5) Create your own!

- This could be a topic part of a study you are already undertaking or the development of a preliminary portion of research you wish to carry out as part of your thesis or dissertation. Reach out to your instructor team for approval.

Initial Draft (50 points) is due September 25th.

Based on the research topic you selected, submit a paper that identifies the following:

- 1) The selected research topic and the research questions/objectives will guide your study.
- 2) Annotated Bibliography: To help you feel comfortable with the general background of your topic and refine your research question, you will be asked to turn in an annotated bibliography. For this class, your annotated bibliography will include at least ten peer-reviewed papers in your chosen area of interest. Doing this assignment will also help you identify larger patterns in the literature and potential gaps or more specific questions you wish to explore.
- 3) Based on your annotated bibliography and the topics covered in class, select two or three models/theories/frameworks/approaches - to describe any global leadership issues/problems identified and that you foresee framing your research at this early stage. This initial project draft will serve as the basis for your proposal.

Proposal (50 points) is due October 23rd.

To complete their proposal, students must submit an introduction, theoretical framework, and methodology within a seven-page limit (excluding the cover page, references, and appendices). Students will refer to the initial draft for their introduction and literature review to guide the proposal draft. The revised proposal will serve as the first part of the final paper.

Manuscript Draft (50 points) is due November 11th.

As part of the manuscript draft, students must submit an almost-complete paper including the following sections:

- Introduction

Literature Review, Break into logical sections or themes that help explain the background of your topic.

- Theoretical/Conceptual Framework

- Methodology

How did you obtain the information necessary for this project?

Why were this method chosen?

Did you use interviews (with whom)? Surveys (with whom)?

Where did you get the survey or interview questions (a scholarly journal article)?

Attach the interview guide as an appendix.

If you made observations, what did you look for? What days/times?

Ethical considerations? (e.g., Voluntary participation? Confidentiality? Anonymity?)

- Findings with integrated literature review implications
- Discussion (conclusion or reflection - may include limitations to your study)

Students should summarize what they learned about global leadership issues from the project (insights) and draw relevant conclusions. Also, did you learn anything about working together in a team for this project?

- References

Oral presentations (50 points) are due on August 2nd.

Create a 15-minute presentation on your research project. This presentation must include either your voice narrating or a video of you making the presentation. Prepare the presentation as if you were presenting it at a conference.

Final manuscript (100 points) is due December 6th.

To ensure a comprehensive and well-structured final manuscript, it is advisable to include the following sections: introduction, theoretical framework, purpose, methodology, results, discussion and conclusions, and recommendations. These sections should be crafted based on the feedback and comments received from the manuscript draft.

Attendance Policy, Class Expectations, and Make-Up Policy

Attendance is required and will be monitored by daily check-ins in the class. If students must miss class for an excused reason, they will work with the instructor to make up all work and discussion elements. This class relies heavily on participation and attendance. If you do not attend and participate, YOU WILL NOT do well in this course. Changes to due dates will be a whole class decision and will be given in advance.

Excused absences must be consistent with university policies in the undergraduate catalog and require appropriate documentation. Additional information can be found in Attendance Policies.

Students Requiring Accommodations

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the Disability Resource Center. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Click here for guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via ufl.bluera.com/ufl/. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students here.

University Honesty Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Honor Code specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TAs in this class.

Software Use

All faculty, staff, and students of the University are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against University policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate. We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to uphold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.

Student Privacy

There are federal laws protecting your privacy with regards to grades earned in courses and on individual assignments. For more information, please see the Notification to Students of FERPA Rights.
