COURSE MEETING TIME:

Spring 2018
Thursdays
8:30 to 10:25 a.m.
306 Rolfs Hall

OFFICE HOURS:

Thursdays, 10:30 to 11:30
Outside of this time, I am always available by appointment.

COURSE GOAL:

Effective communication is at the heart of successful operation in every enterprise in agricultural and natural resources-based industries. Whether communicating interpersonally, inter-organizationally or through the mass media, it is critically important to understand the communication process in order to achieve effective discourse on the major issues facing agricultural and natural resources industries. This course is specifically designed to teach communication theory and concepts and research processes as they apply to important agricultural/natural resources issues. The major objective of the course is to enhance students' ability to think critically and to develop effective strategies and tactics that draw on the theoretical frameworks and methodologies that are most central to the communication process for agricultural communications professionals.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this course, students should be able to:

- Understand the history and evolution of agricultural communications as a professional discipline;
- Analyze agricultural communication issues within the context of communication theory and research;
- Develop a strategic approach to communication research that is specifically related to agricultural communications media, audiences and organizational systems.

REQUIRED TEXT:

Perloff, Richard M. (2017). The Dynamics of Persuasion: Communication and attitudes in the 21st century (sixth edition). New York, New York: Routledge.

ASSIGNMENTS & RESPONSIBILITIES

Theory Matrix

You will create a matrix in a format of your choosing that includes the following components: (a) theory, (b) key players, (c) fundamental elements, (d) research application, and (e) professional application. You will need to add to this matrix each week as we explore new theories. Some weeks you will add to a previous week's entry. You will submit your theory matrix twice: February 28 and April 11

Theoretical Application Reflection Papers

You will be responsible for writing weekly reflection papers wherein you apply a communication theory to an issue in agricultural or natural resources. These will generally be due at the beginning of class each week.

Theoretical Presentation and Discussion: Each student is required to lead one class discussion on assigned readings (I will assign you a research article). Most articles will encompass original research applying the week's relevant theories. The student should begin with a 20-minute presentation of the substantive arguments and methods of the articles, not merely summarizing, but providing an overview of the method and explaining/critiquing how the author used evidence to support his/her arguments. Each participation will be graded on the following criteria:

- correct identification of concepts and/or statement of research question
- description of theoretical framework and method
- interpretation of results
- detailed critique of the study with specific emphasis on application and extension of theory
- lead class discussion of study implications for agricultural communications professionals
- lead class discussion of future relevant research

Participation: As the course is a seminar, class participation is essential—and a substantial part of student grades. In addition to the assignment to lead discussion, weekly participation will be evaluated as either an outstanding (A=100); satisfactory (B=90), or unsatisfactory (C=80) level of engagement.

Final Examination

There will be a comprehensive final examination given on April 18. No notes will be allowed. There will be a combination of short-answer and essay questions (formatted in a similar manner to qualifying examination questions).

EVALUATION OF GRADES

Assignment	Percent of Grade
Theory Matrix	10%
Theoretical Application Reflection Papers	40%
Theoretical Presentation and Discussion	20%
Participation	10%
Final Examination	20%

Unless otherwise noted, every component will be evaluated on 100 points. Your final grade for the course will be calculated on the previous percentages, which will then lead to your final letter grade as based on the following scale:

Grading Scale

A = 93-100%

A- = 90-92%

B+ = 86-89%

B = 83-85%

B- = 80-82%

C+ = 76-79%

C = 73-75%

C- = 70-72%

D+ = 66-69%

D = 63-65%

D- = 60-62%

E = below 60%

Note: For information on current UF policies for assigning grade points, see <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>

Grade Discrepancies

If you have a question about a grade you receive on any of the course components, you must discuss the grade with me within one week of getting the assignment back. After that, grades will not be discussed or modified. This discussion must occur in person. I do not discuss grades via email.

POLICIES & GUIDELINES

Class Expectations: Come to each class having read and studied the assigned readings for that week so that you can contribute to our class discussions. You should be able to provide an overview of each reading and explain how the readings relate to one another as a whole. High-quality participation means that you offer a number of informed comments and questions for each class period.

On the whole, student participation will be evaluated according to the following criteria:

- Meeting deadlines and expectations articulated by the instructor.
- Consistent participation and engagement with the class community.
- Listening and responding fairly to ideas and questions posed by others.
- Reflective and intellectual consideration of how the methods of the course affect their own research interests and fields of study.

Attendance, Make-Up Exams and Assignments

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course is consistent with university policies that can be found at:

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

Students requesting accommodation for disabilities must first register with the Disability Resource Center - www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/. The DRC will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the instructor when requesting accommodations. Students should contact the DRC and complete this process as early as possible in the term for which they are seeking accommodations.

UF Student Honor Code

UF students are bound by the Honor Pledge which states,

"We, the members of the UF community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at UF, the following pledge is either required or implied, "On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."

The Honor Code (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obliged to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor in this class.

Online Course Evaluation Process

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>.

Student Assistance and Emergencies

University support services are available to students who are experiencing significant distress and/or personal emergencies. As appropriate please contact:

UF Counseling & Wellness Center: www.counseling.ufl.edu or 352-392-1575

University Police Department: 352-392-1111 or 9-1-1 for emergencies
